Lancaster Seminary Library gladly accepts donations of books and audiovisual items. Donated items are examined and may be added to the Library collection, in keeping with its collection development policy. Those which are not added will be offered in our annual book sale the proceeds of which benefit the Library. We do not place a cash value on the donation but will acknowledge the quantity donated.

You may donate:

- Hardback and paperback books of ALL types – not just theology – except those noted below
- Audiovisual items (CD's, DVD's, computer software, videos, books on tape, records, etc.)

Items not generally needed:

- General encyclopedias older than ten years
- College textbooks older than ten years
- Reader's Digest condensed books
- National Geographic magazine
